Along the Wakamiya main street, symbol of the Nagoya City, a new expressway has been constructed and a garden was redeveloped in the head room.

Because of the use for the International Garden and Greenery Exposition 1990, this area was arranged to have wide open space for planting greenery and flowers.

By building the expressway at higher level than usual, wide head room could be secured to create a well-lighted and wide open space with flowers and waterfront environment; people do not aware that it is under the road. To offer a place of recreation, consideration was given not to divide the town by the main street 100 meters wide.
